TOWN TALK.

We submit the truth that there are but few small towns which present greater natural advantages than Hickman. Our location is healthy, river and railroad advantages good, and back country unsurpassed in richness and fertility, and everything would demand a prosperous town at this place. The very fact that the town has existed, doing a large business, through various years of misfortune, caused by fires, flood, and war, and aided by the jabs of rival interest and the illiberal spirit of many property owners, is proof evident of the absolute necessity for a town at this point. Since the war, Hickman has improved greatly, substantially, permanently, but in almost every instance necessity has forced the improvement, that is they were made independent of any encouragement offered by property owners. Possibly, there has been towns which grew into cities solely by reason of their location and natural advantages, but it was before this day of railroads, and telegraphs, and newspapers, when trade is directed from one point to another in a thousand different ways. Ten years ago Hickman would scarcely recognize Paducah as a rival, and now the positions are reversed. The enterprising and public spirit of Paducah business men and property owners have changed that little steamboat landing of 1830 to a flourishing and promising young city of 8,000 or 10,000 population. These facts address themselves to every citizen of Hickman—especially to every owner of property. We must have more enterprise—more public spirit. Do the owners of town lots see no incentive to action in the yearly depreciation of their property in value? The great bone of Hickman has been encouraging that parties have bought and held unimproved town lots, on speculation, but it is now a patent truth that unless a change of policy is inaugurated, all will be losers.

Some method must be adopted to induce population and trade, or our town will continue to degenerate along unremunerative to any. Our citizens instead of acting altogether for individual gain, must cultivate a public spirit and work together for the prosperity of our town and community.

These measures must be inaugurated and sustained by actual property holders. Many enterprises have been suggested in this community and failed, simply because the really interested parties declined to assist, and the projects have afterwards been laughed at as visionary by the very men who would have been mostly benefited, and who should have sustained them. These are facts and citizens need only look to the value of their property for proof. Have not our lessons in selfishness been sufficient? Some of our enterprising men have been derided by property owners, and denominated enthusiasts and visionary men—because their efforts for the public good have not succeeded, but the property owners however much they may deride is the greatest loser by their non-success.

A new policy must be inaugurated, and it must be done by the owners of property. Their salvation depends on it. Nature, and an industrious people are willing to help them. We must have population; and that can be obtained by our property owners uniting, and offering proper inducements to people to come amongst us and stay with us.

Several instances have occurred directly under our own observation where mechanics, and men of small means, who had saved up several hundred dollars surplus, would have built dwelling houses, had it not cost their ready money to buy the lot. Could they have bought lots on long time, using their ready money to wards improving the same, they would have become permanent citizens, identified with us in interest, and an active working capital to the town. Would not the lot owner directly be a greater gainer, drawing his annual installments, than by letting his lots remain vacant, paying heavy taxes, with only the hope in the future of obtaining $500 or $1000 down cash for it.

Everybody knows that had this policy been adopted, acted upon, and published to the world, hundreds of houses would have been erected here where there has not been one.

Men of small means, mechanics, artisans, workmen, are the men we want, and can induce. One of these "small builders" is worth more to a community than a man of five times his means who refuses to make any improvements. The first is one of us—a citizen—permanently identified with us in interest, and stays with us through sunshine and storm, while the other is a speculator, "on the make," and picks up his traps and leaves at the first of wind. The first deserves our encouragement, while the other should be forced to pay for his venture.

Some people argue, "if we could just induce the establishment of some large manufacturing establishment," the people would follow. This may possibly be true, but we "just can't." We consider this a mistaken idea. These large establishments until they have proven successful. First, then, we must have an organized, well understood plan of inducing settlers, and secondly a liberal manner of encouraging them after they have come.

The strong must aid the weak, at least until they get a foothold. If a poor man desires to build a residence, he should have the lot at a fair price and on long time.

If he desires to establish a shop for the manufacture of shoes, saddles, furniture, wagons, carriages, he should have the united patronage of our people. The man who sends to a distance for any article manufactured by his fellow-citizen should be held as an enemy to the town. Besides they should be encouraged by laws. Every department of trade, especially mechanical, should be protected from the "money bulls" and speculators, who with their big capital crush out our young, struggling manufacturing establishments.

Hickman has some such establishments of which we may justly boast. We mention Hertzog, Baitzer & Co., wagon makers; Chas. Oswald, P. J. Weimer, Furniture makers; A. S. Anderson, Saddlery and harness; Kirkpatrick & Bro., carriage makers, and others. These houses have established themselves against the combined opposition of home capital and foreign competition. Will not all admit that these houses are a benefit to the town and to every business man in it? If all our home patronage could be centered upon these houses their establishments would be enlarged and improved, their working force would be increased, and the town in every way increased. And it is to the interest of every man, merchant, grocer, farmer, professional man, all to extend this encouragement. Any thinking man can see this without our enlarging on the point.

We are dependent upon our City Council for many needed salutary measures. For instance, in assessing taxes, owners of vacant lots should be assessed to the full extent allowed by the charter, and parties building new houses encouraged by lessening or releasing their taxes for a certain time. This would cause lot owners to sell at reasonable prices, and encourage men to improve their property. They should encourage home institutions by favorable legislation. Old fables and croakers must be made to stand out of the way of the obvious prosperity of the city.

Another view is that our business men must work to keep and increase the trade from the back country. To this end good roads to and from town, in every direction, is absolutely essential. Our merchants should aid the county and our country dealers in building and keeping these roads in good condition. One in particular, known as the Robinson & Keith turnpike, across Ohio bottom, opening to us the rich trade of Dyer and Gibson counties, demand their consideration.

These views are stated plainly, without any attempt to embellish or make them sound pleasant to the ear. Our people must understand facts. We need enterprise. We need public spirit. We must combine all interests and work together for the common good. For the want of united action the town is languishing, mechanic shops paralyzed, home industry burdened, and every class of people dispirited. Thousands of dollars are lying idle in the pockets of farmers and citizens, which is needed every day in commerce and improvements, only for want of a safe and profitable channel in which to invest it, and which would be commanded by our citizens if they would unite in an effort. No town ever did or can prosper without such exertions. Shall we try? Let our property holders talk together, compare the past history of the town, its present condition, and its future prospects, and determine for themselves, for it is with them, whether they will inaugurate a new policy for prosperity, or continue in the beaten track.

PROMPTNESS.—Persons having Furniture, repaired, can save time and money by calling at Oswald's Furniture Manufactory.

NEWSPAPER CHANGE.—Messrs. Harney, Hughes & Co., have sold the Louisville Democrat to John E. Hatcher and W. Henry Perrin. Under the new arrangement John E. Hatcher becomes the managing editor of the paper, and will continue it as an earnest advocate of Democratic principles. John E. Hatcher is better known in the newspaper world as G. Washington Briggs, is a ready writer, and one of the most go-ahead journalists of the age.

NEW MUSIC.—D. P. Faulds, No. 70 Main, street, Louisville, publisher and dealer in music and musical instruments of all kinds, has sent us "Walking in the Zoo," by A. Lee, a song from the series of the latest and best English comic songs arranged by H. A. Gilbert, and the "Fairy Eva Polka," from "Little Fairies' Folio," or Pretty Little Pieces from Pretty Little Fingers," by W. C. Chainey—both of them charming specimens of their kind.

GENERAL LEE is in request. The new Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Company wants him for President, and a New York Life Insurance Company desires him to superintend its Southern agencies for $10,000 a year.

You May be too Late.
Be warned in time. Diseases like Indigestion and Dyspepsia are not to be trifled with. This is such a thing as being too late in these matters. Indigestion or Scouring Cancer or some other dangerous disease may ensue, when all a stomachic, no matter how potent, would be ineffectual. Do not delay then. When the symptoms of Dyspepsia are first experienced resort at once to the great restorative medicine, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS, and you will be safe.

But few disorders involve greater suffering, and if not in itself immediately dangerous it is the source of many deadly maladies. Even if it did not tend to greater evil, the mental and physical misery it produces is alone a sufficient reason why no states should be allowed to progress and grow in no country on the face of the globe is it so completely domesticated as in our own, where it is found in nearly every household. HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS are universally conceded to be the sovereign remedy for this annoying disease, as they act directly on the digestive organs, correct and tone the stomach, and give renewed vitality to the system. Acting delightfully on the nerves and soothing the brain, renders them efficacious as a mental medicine, as well as a general tonic. If taken as a preservative, they will be found particularly well suited to the diseases arising from the unhealthy season of autumn, and their use will prevent the depressing unpleasant sensation often complained of when the chills are stealing slowly upon the patient.

SIXTY-ONE White Co., Ark., May 23, '93.
Dr. John Bull—Dear Sir: Last February I was in Louisville purchasing drugs, and I got some of your Sarsaparilla and Cedron Bitters.
My son-in-law, who was with me in the store, has been down with rheumatism for some time, commenced on the Bitters, and soon found his general health improved. Dr. Gist, who has been in bad health, tried them, and he also improved.
Dr. Coffee, who has been in bad health for several years—stomach and liver affected—improved very much by the use of your Bitters. Indeed the Cedron Bitters has given you great popularity in this settlement. I think I could sell a great quantity of your medicines here. I am a dealer in your Cedron Bitters and Sarsaparilla. Ship me via Memphis, care of Rickett and Neely. Respectfully,
C. B. WALKER.

JOHN BULL'S WORM DESTROYER.

Middletown, Ind., April 26, '98.
Mr. M. E. Duplan writes: I do not know that Bull's Worm Destroyer needs any more recommendations than it has already attained by its own merits, but will state that my little son, aged about three years, was so very much attacked last fall and winter with light worms, or perhaps more properly fits, lasting from half an hour to one and a half hours; at the same time the child had strong symptoms of worms. My physician—one of the best in this part of the country—haunted all his skill and the Materia Medica to expel the worms, and entirely failed to bring any. I thought "John Bull" could do it, and gave the child the contents of three boxes, in triple doses, night and morning, with happy results. The child has not had a spasm for over three months, and instead of the bloated mass that he was, he is now well and hearty. John Bull did it. Yours, truly,
M. E. DUPLAN.

A call from Minnesota.

Kingsport, P. O., Mecken co., Minn., April 7, '98.
Mr. John Bull—Dear Sir, I moved from Kentucky to this place. The stores have none of your Worm Destroyer for sale. They are greatly needed here in Minnesota. A trial is all that is needed to give them a reputation. We can't do this without your aid. Please send some on this way. Yours, sincerely,
D. G. ARROWOOD.

BULL'S SARSAPARILLA.

A GOOD REASON FOR THE CAPTAIN'S FAITH.

BENTON BARBERS, Mo., April 30, '98.
Dr. John Bull—Dear Sir: Knowing the efficiency of your Sarsaparilla, and the loving and beneficial qualities it possesses, I send you the following statement of my case. I was troubled about two years ago—was taken prisoner and confined for sixteen months. Being moved so often, my wounds have not healed yet. I have not sat up a moment since I was wounded. I am shot through the hips. My general health is impaired, and I need something to assist nature. I have more faith in your Sarsaparilla than in any thing else. I wish that that is genuine. Please express me half a dozen bottles, and oblige.
Capt. C. P. JOHNSON,
St. Louis, Mo.

T.S.—The following was written April 20, 1895, by Mrs. Jennie Johnson, mother of Capt. Johnson:
Dr. Bull—Dear Sir: My husband, Dr. C. S. Johnson, was a skilled surgeon and physician in Central New York, where he died, leaving the above C. P. Johnson to my care. At thirteen years ago he had a chronic diarrhea and scurvy, for which I gave him your Sarsaparilla. It cured him. I have for ten years recommended it to many in New York, Ohio, and Iowa, for scurvy, fever, and general debility. Perfect cures have attended it. The cures effected in some cases of scurvy and fever were almost miraculous. I am very anxious for my son again have recourse to your Sarsaparilla. He is full of life and vigor. I will preserve any one infringing on my right. He would be terrible, but I believe he will recover.
Respectfully,
JENNIE JOHNSON.

SMITH'S TONIC SYRUP.
FOR THE CURE OF AGUE AND FEVER.
OR CHILLS AND FEVER.

The proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims for it a superiority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the safe, certain, speedy, and permanent cure of Ague and Fever, or Chills and Fever, whether of short or long standing. He relies on the entire Western and Southern country to bear his testimony to the truth of the assertion, that in no case whatever will it fail to cure. If the directions are strictly followed and carried out, in a great many cases a single dose has been sufficient to cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health. It is, however, prudent and a very wise more certain to cure, if its use is continued in smaller doses for a week or two after the first cure, and the directions are followed. This medicine will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order, and the patient, however, require a cathartic medicine, after having taken three or four doses of this medicine, and BULL'S SARSAPARILLA.
